What's New In Shoptagr?

What do you think about Shoptagr? The present invention relates to a high-pressure fuel pump. Japanese Utility Model First Publication No. 61-117803, entitled "High-pressure fuel pump" and published on Sept. 16, 1986, discloses a high-pressure fuel pump as shown in FIG. 1. The highpressure fuel pump disclosed in Japanese Utility Model First Publication No. 61-117803 comprises a motor driven pump impeller 1, a cam chamber 2 which can communicate with an outlet port 3 of the pump impeller 1 through a communication hole 4, a valve member 6 which closes the communication hole 4, a solenoid valve 5 which closes the valve member 6, and an armature 8. The cam chamber 2 is formed as a part of the pump impeller 1, and is arranged on one end face of the pump impeller 1 at a position opposing a spout hole 7 of the pump impeller 1. The solenoid valve 5 is arranged on the other end face of the pump impeller 1 at a position opposing the cam chamber 2, and has the armature 8. In this conventional high-pressure fuel pump, the motor driven pump impeller 1 is rotated by a motor not shown, and the cam chamber 2 is sequentially communicated with the outlet port 3 through the communication hole 4, the valve member 6 and the communication hole 4. The motor driven pump impeller 1 is rotated by the motor, and a pump operating pressure is applied to the valve member 6 and the valve member 6 is displaced in an opening direction to close the communication hole 4. In the conventional high-pressure fuel pump as shown in FIG. 1, the solenoid valve 5 closes the communication hole 4, which is formed in the pump impeller 1, so that the cam chamber 2 can not communicate with the outlet port 3. When the solenoid valve 5 is energized to close the communication hole 4, the valve member 6 is displaced in an opening direction by the armature 8. The pump operating pressure is applied to the valve member 6 and closes the communication hole 4, and the pump operating pressure is transmitted to the cam chamber 2 and the pump operating pressure is applied to the valve member 6. In this highpressure fuel pump, when the solenoid valve 5 is deenergized and the valve member 6 is displaced in a closing direction, the pump operating pressure is not applied to the valve member 6 and the communication hole 4 is opened to be communicated with the outlet port 3. In the conventional high-pressure fuel pump, the solenoid valve 5 closes the communication hole 4 and the solenoid valve 5 is energized to be displaced in an opening direction by the armature 8. When the solenoid valve 5 is energized, the pump operating pressure is applied to the valve member 6, which is displaced in an opening direction to close the communication hole 4, and the
