Some months ago I was contacted by a fan named Alex at the Archives of Queensland, Australia. Alex had written to the archives asking if I had any idea who the mystery couple were that were featured in an episode of "Old Time Radio." Of course I could not say definitively who they were without reference to the episode or character, but I offered to send Alex a copy of the original episode. Fast forward a few months and I had a copy of the episode in my hands. I immediately recognized the couple and their mystery I was hoping to solve. That couple was the

OTR version of the Marx Brothers and that episode was "The Valentine That Went Wrong." Now it was time to finally identify them for the world. "The Valentine That Went Wrong" (1947) © La Jollan Productions, Inc. The Episode The couple in the show were Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bridewell (played by actors John Ridgely and Alice Hall). They were vacationing at the nearby seaside resort of Scarborough Beach in North Carolina. Mr. Bridewell is an attorney who specializes in divorce. Mrs. Bridewell is, naturally, his secretary and a former secretary to his boss at the firm. A few minutes into their vacation, they meet Eleanor Dehorty (Mary Treen), a young woman whom Mrs. Bridewell's secretary had been dating. They struck up a conversation and discovered that they were both from New York, where

Mrs. Dehorty was a socialite.
Mrs. Dehorty invited Mrs.
Bridewell and her husband to her country estate, Rose Cottage, to stay for a while, and they readily agreed.
Unfortunately, as they later learned, Miss Dehorty
